STAFF REPORT

TO: RICHARDSON BAY LOCAL AREA COMMITTEE

FROM: Roy Bateman, Community Development Manager

SUBJECT: Recommendations for Funding 2014-15
Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Proposals

DATE: March 10, 2014

The recommendations from Community Development Block Grant staff for funding projects in the Richardson Bay Planning Area are listed below. These recommendations will be presented and considered at the Richardson Bay Planning Area public hearing on Thursday, March 13, 2014, at 6:00 p.m., at the Marguerita C. Johnson Senior Center, 640 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Update on Federal Budget and Expected CDBG and HOME Grant Amounts

Delays in setting the federal budget have become so routine that HUD recently issued formal guidelines for localities on how to prepare CDBG and HOME Investment Partnerships Program (HOME) grant applications when their funding allocations are not known before the deadline for filing the applications.

In January 2014, Congress approved an omnibus appropriations bill for federal fiscal year 2014, and the President signed the bill. As a result, we might know our CDBG and HOME formula funding amounts for the 2014-15 program year in about a month. Nationally, funding for CDBG will be 1.5% less than last year, and funding for HOME will be 5% greater than last year. Marin's actual grant amounts will also be affected by any changes in how Marin ranks on demographic factors (population, poverty, overcrowded housing, etc.) in comparison with other grantees. For planning purposes, staff recommends that we assume a 3.5% reduction in CDBG and a 3% increase in HOME.

Trends in the CDBG and HOME Programs

Nationally, the most important trend in the CDBG and HOME Programs is the decline in funding. Less money means less impact, and unless other funding sources fill the gap, it means fewer and/or smaller projects. Along with the decline in grant allocations, the amount that HUD allows for administrative expenses has also been shrinking. The amount HUD allows for administration is no longer enough to cover the County's CDBG administrative costs.

Meanwhile, HUD is requiring increased documentation for our projects, partly because Congress is divided on whether CDBG and HOME are worthy of support, and partly because it's easy to add additional data fields to HUD's computer system. HUD is increasingly using its computer system as a management and monitoring tool, making it increasingly risky to fund projects that might not quickly generate beneficiary statistics. The increased emphasis on accountability creates disincentives for risk-taking. In a system where HUD demands repayment of funds advanced for projects that fail, it becomes riskier to fund an inexperienced project sponsor or to provide the first dollars for a promising new idea.

Locally, there has been an increasing emphasis on the extent to which racial and ethnic minorities are served by CDBG and HOME projects, and the quality of each project sponsor's affirmative marketing plan. (Affirmative marketing is a process by which an organization determines which racial and ethnic groups are least likely to apply for its services, followed by targeted marketing efforts to reach those "least likely to apply" groups.)

Spending Deadlines

The ability to spend funds quickly has become increasingly important. Under pressure from Congress, HUD is becoming more aggressive about taking CDBG funds away from communities that can't spend them fast enough. HUD takes sanctions if, on the annual test date in late April, a community has unspent CDBG funds that exceed 1.5 times its annual CDBG grant amount. We are typically very close to the allowable limit of unspent funds. As our CDBG grant declines, the amount of unspent funds we are permitted to hold also declines. Therefore, we should be careful to target CDBG funds to projects that are ready to proceed.

CDBG Administrative Expenses Likely to Exceed Limit

It is becoming more of a challenge to operate the Marin CDBG program within the administrative allowance set by the regulations. CDBG regulations limit administrative expenses to 20% of available funds.

The list below shows the trend in the percentage of Marin CDBG funds spent for administration in recent years:

Fiscal Year	Percentage of Marin CDBG Funds Spent for Administration
1999-2000	12.97%
2000-01	15.86%
2001-02	17.57%
2002-03	13.21%
2003-04	11.09%
2004-05	13.09%
2005-06	15.13%
2006-07	16.62%
2007-08	19.50%
2008-09	16.74%
2009-10	19.87%
2010-11	20.00%*
2011-12	18.74%
2012-13	22.69%

*The 2010-11 entry includes $65,500 booked as an unliquidated obligation for accrued liability for future retiree health benefits, which will have the effect of reducing our administrative percentage at some point in the future.

**For 2012-13, because the amount we could bill HUD was limited to 20%, the County general fund absorbed the remaining 2.69% ($39,116).

Administrative, monitoring, and regulatory requirements from the federal government have been increasing. Congress wants greater accountability and more recordkeeping, and as HUD enhances its computer system, we are asked to feed that system more information. Changes in government accounting standards and local accounting systems require more complex work to assure that transactions are posted correctly. We need to contribute our share of the cost to build a reserve for retiree health benefits. The CDBG Program has cut staff hours, reducing staff from 3 to 2.5 FTE, which has reduced costs but did not affect workload. One way to reduce the administrative workload to match the reduction in staff hours would be to reduce the number of projects we have to administer. If we reduce the number of projects, we will reduce the volume of project contracts, project monitoring reports, invoice processing, and accounting so that our workload can better match our reduced staffing level.

There are certain fixed costs of basic HUD compliance, reporting, and monitoring of past projects. There are no indications that Congress or HUD will reduce the administrative requirements they impose on localities. There are also variable costs for contract administration, reporting, invoice processing, and accounting, which are largely dependent on the number and complexity of projects we fund.

The CDBG program regulations allow us to spend 20% of available grant funds on administrative costs (including staff, rent, overhead, and office expenses). In that formula, available grant funds also include revenue (“program income”) received from past projects, such as repayments of loans made by the Rehabilitation Loan Program and payments in conjunction with the sale of properties that were purchased or improved with CDBG funds.

We expect that the CDBG grant’s allowance for administration will not cover the full cost of CDBG administration this year. Because the program income component of the formula varies from year to year, it is difficult to predict the administrative shortfall. We expect that the 2013-14 shortfall will be approximately $7,000. However, that amount is artificially low because our half-time Planner position has been vacant for more than half of this fiscal year. That vacancy was filled last month, and the cost of that position will increase the administrative shortfall in the 2014-15 fiscal year. Because the CDBG program is operated by the County, the County is solely responsible for this financial exposure and would have to absorb any excess expenses.

Reducing the Overall Number of Projects

Over the last 13 years, the number of CDBG projects funded each year has fluctuated between 30 and 52 projects per year. In the 2011-12 program year, Marin funded 37 CDBG projects, consisting of 14 housing projects, 5 capital projects, and 18 public service projects. Last year, Marin funded 32 CDBG projects, consisting of 12 housing projects, 4 capital projects, and 16 public service projects.

In order to bring actual CDBG administrative costs closer to balance with the administrative allowance provided by the CDBG grant, staff recommends that we fund fewer projects in the 2014-15 program year. Administrative costs are not strictly proportional to the number of projects, partly because there is a fixed cost for meeting HUD planning and reporting requirements. Staff has recommended a goal of reducing the number of CDBG projects to a range between 27 and 30 projects.

Renewal of City-County CDBG Cooperation Agreements

The Community Development Block Grant Program (CDBG) provides grants from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to local governments for housing, community facility, and human service programs serving lower-income people. The HOME Investment Partnerships Program (HOME) provides additional assistance for housing activities. Marin County qualifies for both the CDBG and HOME programs because the cities have signed cooperation agreements to participate with the County government in a single joint countywide program. This qualifies Marin County as a HUD “urban county,” enabling Marin to receive annual CDBG and HOME grant allocations established by formula.

In 2011, all of the cities in Marin entered into three-year CDBG Cooperation Agreements enabling us to continue to obtain formula funds as an urban county. Renewal of the Cooperation Agreements by June 30, 2014 is required for Marin County to remain eligible to receive funds for the next three fiscal years.

We expect that the 2014 Cooperation Agreement will be very similar to the 2011 version, with only minor revisions. Most of the provisions are mandated by HUD, and the others describe existing local processes. Early this spring, staff will send the 2014 Cooperation Agreements to city/town managers for Council approval.

Staff hopes that the Councilmembers on the Priority Setting Committee will help facilitate the local renewal process. If Priority Setting Committee members have any questions about the Cooperation Agreement, they are invited to contact Roy Bateman at the Marin County Community Development Agency at 473-6698.

Recommendations for the Richardson Bay Planning Area

The staff recommendations for the use of CDBG Richardson Bay Planning Area funds are shown in the table on page 9.

It has become routine for HUD to announce our actual formula grant amount during or after our annual public hearing process. (See page 1 of this report.) As a result, we should expect that the final Marin County grant amount will vary from our estimate, and that would impact the Richardson Bay CDBG allocation. To avoid the need for an additional hearing, staff recommends that the grant amounts set at the Richardson Bay Local Area Hearing be subject to revision when HUD announces the County's CDBG allocation. At that time, staff would recalculate the amounts available for each planning area, and for each activity category. To the extent that cuts are needed or additional funds are available, staff would adjust the preliminary project grant amounts, so that the final funding amounts will be proportional to the amounts approved at the Richardson Bay hearing. Where feasible, staff would then round numbers to the nearest hundred dollars. If additional funds are available, the adjustment would be limited so that no project receives more than the amount the sponsor requested.

The table on page 9 lists all the applications received and the amount staff recommends for each project, as well as some additional information about the equal opportunity impact of each proposal. In view of the commitments the County has made in the Implementation Plan for its Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice, we are including information about the extent to which racial and ethnic minorities are being served by potential projects, and ratings of each applicant's affirmative marketing plans. Affirmative marketing is a process by which an organization analyzes which racial and ethnic groups are least likely to apply for its services, followed by targeted marketing efforts to reach those "least likely to apply" groups. (Please note that federal guidelines recognize Hispanic status as an ethnicity, not as a race.)

For projects which have previously received CDBG funding, we have included the percentage of clients who are racial minorities and the percentage of clients who are Hispanic, based on reports that have been previously filed by the sponsors. For new proposals, not previously funded by CDBG, we did not report this information, and have noted "new" in the data columns.

For all proposals, we have included a staff evaluation of the sponsor's answer to the affirmative marketing question on the CDBG application. An "A" grade indicates that the applicant analyzed which racial and ethnic groups are least likely to apply for its project, and clearly stated how they would market their project specifically to the "least likely to apply" groups. A "B" grade indicates that the applicant was responsive to the question, but was not specific enough in its analysis of which racial and ethnic groups are least likely to apply, was too general in its proposed affirmative marketing activities, or proposed weak affirmative marketing actions. A “C” grade indicates that the applicant was not responsive to the question. In some cases, the quality of an applicant’s response to the affirmative marketing question is very different from its actual affirmative marketing performance. It is also possible for a project to be very effective in serving a particular minority group but to be less effective in affirmatively marketing its services to other demographic groups.

Reprogramming of Previously Allocated Funds

At its January 1992 meeting, the CDBG Priority Setting Committee decided that unspent CDBG balances allocated to projects over two years ago should be considered for reallocation (“reprogramming”) to other projects which may be in greater need of the funds. In compliance with this policy, CDBG staff has sent the required 30-day notices to most project sponsors with CDBG funds which were allocated two years ago or earlier, as well as to newer projects which have been moving slowly, so that the Committee would have the option of reprogramming these funds. In cases where a project sponsor was ready to proceed but awaiting a contract from the County, notices were not sent. This year, a notice was sent to one project in the Richardson Bay Planning Area.

Gates Cooperative (Gates Cooperative, Marin County Housing Authority, and EAH Inc.)

(2009-10)	51,200.00
TOTAL	$214,400.50

The Gates Cooperative is a liveaboard low-income community located within Waldo Point Harbor, just north of Sausalito. CDBG funds are being held for use by Gates Cooperative residents for rehabilitation of individual boats to bring them up to code standards so they will qualify to remain in the new Waldo Point Harbor project. A very lengthy planning approval process for Waldo Point Harbor has been completed and rehabilitation of the Gates Cooperative boats has begun. Therefore, staff recommends that the CDBG Richardson Bay allocation for the Gates Cooperative be maintained for this project.

Note that the amounts listed in the table above are limited to the CDBG allocations for the Gates Cooperative from the Richardson Bay Planning Area component of CDBG. An additional $306,423 is being held for the Gates Cooperative from the Countywide Housing component of CDBG<sup>1</sup>. The combined total of CDBG funds being held for the Gates Cooperative from the Richardson Bay and Countywide Housing components is $520,823.50.

<sup>1</sup> On February 26, 2013, $100,000 in CDBG Countywide Housing funds was reprogrammed from the Gates Cooperative to the San Rafael curb ramps project to help us meet the annual timely spending quota in April 2013. On May 7, 2013, the City of San Rafael returned the $100,000 to the Gates Cooperative account.

HOUSING PROJECTS

1. Galilee Harbor (Galilee Harbor Community Association)

The Galilee Harbor Community Association is seeking funding towards completion of a major project which has enabled the Galilee Harbor liveaboard community to relocate its 38 member boats to a permanent marina site on the Sausalito waterfront. Over 90% of the residents of Galilee Harbor are low income, and this project represents a unique opportunity to preserve existing affordable housing while retaining the character of the working waterfront. In November 1995, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission (BCDC) approved a settlement agreement with Galilee Harbor which has enabled the project to move forward. The terms of its settlement agreement with BCDC require Galilee Harbor to complete public improvements (including a parking area, public access paths, landscaping, docks, a wheelchair access ramp, and utility hook-ups).

In 1997, with CDBG assistance, Galilee Harbor purchased the final portion of its site. In 1999, Galilee Harbor completed dredging and excavation in preparation for the installation of new docks. In 2001, toxic remediation was completed, and a portion of the parking lot for residents was constructed. In 2003, new docks and sewer connections were built. In 2004, many boats were connected to the sewer, bathrooms were completed, an irrigation system was installed, benches and picnic tables were installed in the public access area, and historic pilot houses from the Issaquah Ferry were moved to the entrance to the main Galilee Harbor dock. In 2005, concrete piles were removed from the dinghy dock area. In 2006, Galilee buried the electric service for the harbor. In 2007, Galilee made landscaping improvements, encased sewer boxes, replaced the wood floors in the pilot houses, installed a ramp at the dinghy dock, established a revolving loan fund to help residents pay for hook-ups to the sewer system, replaced the roof of the building where the showers, toilets, and laundry machines are located, and added railings to the handicapped access ramp at that building. In 2011, Galilee installed a floating wheelchair ramp for dock access. In 2012, Galilee expanded its restroom facility to meet current wheelchair accessibility standards. In 2013, Galilee Harbor completed a trash and recycling storage building.

The recommended funding would be used towards the next phase of improvements, including installation of asphalt paving to permanently cap a shorefront area which had been contaminated with diesel fuel, hydraulic fluid, and heavy metals. The asphalt paving would replace a temporary liner and meet state environmental standards. Galilee Harbor also needs to begin to prepare its application to BCDC to renew its permits, which would otherwise expire in 2016.

By preventing the displacement of existing lower income residents, Galilee Harbor will retain economic diversity and the historic working waterfront in an area with extremely high housing costs.

Equal Opportunity Analysis: Racial minorities are well represented among the beneficiaries of this program. Hispanics are under-represented compared to their proportion of the Marin population. The sponsor's affirmative marketing proposal is excellent (rated A).

2. Rehabilitation Loan Program (Marin Housing Authority)

There is an ongoing need for rehabilitation loans for lower income homeowners in Marin County. Over the past thirty-eight years, the Housing Authority has made 725 rehabilitation loans totaling over $12.6 million. The program operates on a countywide basis. Loans are made available to owners of single-family homes to correct substandard housing conditions, to eliminate health and safety hazards, to create second units within an existing house where permitted by local ordinance, for rehabilitation of houseboats docked at approved berths, and for mobile homes located within a mobile home park. New loans range from $5,000 to a usual limit of $35,000, with an average of $25,000. Loan terms are set according to the borrower's situation. The program offers amortized loans, interest-only loans, and deferred payment loans (with no payments due until the property is transferred). New loans are being made at a 5% interest rate.

Nineteen years ago, in response to a local policy limiting the number of CDBG projects, the Housing Authority expanded the scope of this program to include non-profit-operated group homes serving special populations. The program offers group homes deferred payment loans at 3% interest, with no payments due until the use or ownership of the house changes. This has enabled the CDBG program to continue to assist the rehabilitation of group homes while reducing the administrative burden on the CDBG office. Involvement of the Housing Authority as intermediary also gives group homes the benefit of the knowledge of the rehabilitation experts on the staff of the Housing Authority.

The Gates Cooperative is a liveaboard low-income community located within Waldo Point Harbor, just north of Sausalito. A very lengthy planning approval process for Waldo Point Harbor has been completed and rehabilitation of the Gates Cooperative boats has begun. The Priority Setting Committee has designated the Rehabilitation Loan Program to help Gates Cooperative members upgrade their boats to meet code standards so that they can qualify for berths in the new Waldo Point Harbor. Staff of the Rehabilitation Loan Program have been working closely with the Gates Cooperative and EAH, Inc. to carefully plan the details of houseboat rehabilitation for the Gates Cooperative. For the next three years, the Rehabilitation Loan Program will devote much of its attention to the rehabilitation of Gates houseboats. Loans for Gates Cooperative boats will have a 3% interest rate. During the period of Gates rehabilitation, the Program will continue its work with single-family houses and group homes, although possibly at a limited pace.

Annual CDBG funding allocations are used towards the cost of staff and other operating expenses of the Rehabilitation Loan Program. The program's loans are funded from a revolving loan fund. Revenue from monthly loan payments and repaid loans is expected to total $350,000 in program income for the 2014-15 program year, and will be added to the revolving loan fund and used to make additional loans.

Equal Opportunity Analysis: Racial and ethnic minorities are under-represented among the beneficiaries of this program, partly because racial and ethnic minorities are under-represented among homeowners and the elderly. A large fraction of the program's beneficiaries are elderly homeowners. The sponsor's affirmative marketing proposal is excellent (rated A).

The Gates Cooperative proposal for rehabilitation of liveaboard boats was not recommended for Richardson Bay funding. The CDBG program is currently holding $520,823.50 for rehabilitation of Gates Cooperative boats, and there will be an opportunity next year to provide additional funding if it is needed.

CAPITAL PROJECTS

1. Marguerita C. Johnson Senior Center, Rehabilitation (Marin City Community Services District)

The Marguerita C. Johnson Senior Center is heavily used by the Marin City community for senior programs, family gatherings, and youth activities. The facilities are rented regularly throughout the week and on weekends. The existing range and hood have been in place since the Center opened in 1988. The range is heavily used because cooking is an integral part of so many of the activities at the Center (including the weekly congregate meal provided on-site, special events, and family gatherings after funerals). Both the range and hood show signs of heavy use. The hood is rusting. The oven door has had a series of repairs because it wasn't closing tightly, but the repairs do not last long. The oven has a pilot light that keeps going out and, because the pilot light is in a hard-to-find location, staff are often called outside normal working hours to re-light the pilot. CDBG staff recommends funding to replace the range and hood in the Senior Center.

Equal Opportunity Analysis: Although all indications are that this program serves a diverse population, the sponsor's affirmative marketing proposal was deemed to be non-responsive (rated C).

2. Marin City Community Development Corporation Offices, Rehabilitation (Marin City Community Development Corporation)

The Marin City Community Development Corporation (CDC) has become a major provider of job training services for low-income people, serving clients from Marin City and the rest of the county. In 2011, the CDC became a service provider for clients of the California Department of Rehabilitation. Its contracts with the State require the CDC to meet the standards of the Commission on the Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities, including requirements for accessibility to people with disabilities. In 2010, the CDC purchased the Livermore Estate, and has relocated its offices to the historic mansion (circa 1895) on the property. The CDC has much work to do to meet the accessibility requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). The CDC is requesting funds to meet the Department of Rehabilitation licensing requirements by installing an access ramp, new iron railing, patio fencing, and brick wall at the side of the building, where there is a direct and relatively flat route to the rear parking lot. Staff is recommending funding towards accessibility improvements for the CDC offices.

Equal Opportunity Analysis: Although all indications are that this program serves a diverse population, the sponsor's affirmative marketing proposal was deemed to be non-responsive (rated C).

Because of limited funds, staff did not recommend funding to replace wood chips with a rubberized safety surface at the Marin Learning Center playground this year. However, staff would encourage Community Action Marin to apply next year for this project.

PUBLIC SERVICE PROJECTS

1. Marin Learning Center (Community Action Marin)

The Marin Learning Center provides child care, along with therapeutic services that address issues of social and emotional development. The Center continues to develop its therapeutic component for children and their families, as well as its focus on kindergarten school readiness, social and emotional development, cultural and environmental awareness, and community building. The therapeutic component at the Marin Learning Center is based on a play therapy room model and is staffed by a licensed therapist. The focus of the play room is to assist children in developing social and emotional skills and to create a climate of mutual respect, caring, and trust. Another goal is to help children develop a vocabulary for their feelings. The therapist meets with children individually, runs small groups for the children that focus on socialization skills, meets with parents, and trains staff how to work with children who are difficult and acting out. The Learning Center serves low income and working families.

Equal Opportunity Analysis: Racial minorities are well represented among the beneficiaries of this program. Hispanics are extremely well represented compared to their proportion of the Marin population. The sponsor's affirmative marketing proposal is non-responsive (rated C).

2. Performing Stars of Marin

Performing Stars of Marin is dedicated to building the self-esteem of low income children through activities in the performing, visual, and literary arts as well as providing access to summer day camp programs and field trips. This program has proven to be a valuable tool for building self-confidence in participating children. Staff recommends funding towards staff for this program.

Equal Opportunity Analysis: Racial minorities are very well represented among the beneficiaries of this program. Hispanics are very well represented compared to their proportion of the Marin population. In the last year, about half the participants were African-American, and about half were Hispanic. The sponsor's affirmative marketing proposal is responsive (rated B).

Staff recommends that we continue to fund public services at the maximum level permitted by the CDBG regulations (15% of the grant, plus 15% of any income returned to the program), but that we continue to limit the number of projects. By limiting the number of projects, we help to limit CDBG administrative expenses without diminishing the amount of public service funding. Limiting the number of public services actually results in a higher average grant in the public service category.

In the Richardson Bay Planning Area, staff is recommending two public service projects for funding this year, one less than was funded last year. Both of the recommended public services in the Richardson Bay Planning Area are locally-based projects. One has been recommended for funding in another planning area.

In formulating our recommendations for which public services should be funded, staff considered:

- To what extent does the program serve racial and ethnic minorities or people with disabilities, and does the sponsor have a reasonable affirmative marketing plan?
- How needy is the project sponsor, considering its size and financial strength?
- In the context of other available resources, which projects can have the most lasting impact with a small amount of CDBG funds?
