Description of the Proposed Project [24 CFR 50.12 & 58.32; 40 CFR 1508.25]:

The Marin Housing Authority plans to replace several components of an owner-occupied mobile home located at 131 Bryce Canyon Road in San Rafael, CA. This mobile home was built in 1990 and components have reached the end of their useful life. The project entails replacement of a water heater, furnace, toilet, sink, and dishwasher. The structure also needs to be leveled, and once it is leveled, a new handrail on the existing exterior ramp will be installed. There is no new ground disturbance as a result of this project, as leveling will occur in same footprint. The homeowner is a very low-income and elderly female head of household.

Contamination and Toxic Substances

General requirements	Legislation	Regulations
It is HUD policy that all properties that are being proposed for use in HUD programs be free of hazardous materials, contamination, toxic chemicals and gases, and radioactive substances, where a hazard could affect the health and safety of the occupants or conflict with the intended utilization of the property.		24 CFR 58.5(i)(2) 24 CFR 50.3(i)

1. Evaluate the site for contamination. Were any on-site or nearby toxic, hazardous, or radioactive substances found that could affect the health and safety of project occupants or conflict with the intended use of the property?

✓ No

Explain:

This Site Contamination and Toxics review covers three closely located projects, all slated to receive MHA-RLP program loans in 2022: 120, 131, and 143 Bryce Canyon Road, within the Contempo Mobile Home Park in San Rafael. The NEPAssist database was searched for toxic and contaminated sites within a 1.05 - mile radius of centroid of the three sites, to encompass a 1-mile radius of each. No Brownfields, Air Pollution facility, Toxic Substances Control Act, Toxic Release Inventory, or Superfund sites were found within the search radius. The NEPAssist search returned numerous RCRA sites within the search radius, as is typical in an urban area. These are for the most part small quantity and large quantity hazardous waste generators, such as auto repair shops, pharmacies, and back-up generator installations that are registered with the USEPA, and that do not generally pose a threat to the health and safety of nearby residents. The closest RCRA site to any of the three project sites is about .43 miles away. There are no RCRA sites within or adjacent to any of the project sites. The State of California Geotracker database was also searched, with the same search radius. The search included Leaking Underground Storage Tank (LUST) sites, Cleanup Program sites, Military Cleanup sites, DTSC Cleanup and Hazardous Waste sites, Land Disposal sites, and Oil and Gas sites. 28 sites were found within the search radius. The majority are LUST sites with status Completed-Case Closed. There are several sites associated with the former San Francisco Nike Battery 93. According to the Geotracker summary sheet, SF-93 is a Formerly Used Defense Site (FUDS) that was established in 1956 as an Antiaircraft Artillery Missile Battalion by the U.S. Army. Former SF-93 was deactivated in 1971. Several of the SF-93 sites are still open. However, these sites are all a minimum of 1,000 feet away from any of the three project sites, and across North Fork Gallinas Creek. Therefore, the sites associated with SF 93 appear not to pose a threat to the health and safety of residents of any of the Bryce Road residents. Several other sites are associated with the former Fairchild Semiconductor facility at 4300 Redwood Highway, about 3,600 feet from the nearest of the three project sites. One of the former Fairchild Sites has status Open-Verification Monitoring-Land Use Restrictions. This site appears not to pose a threat to the health and safety of any of the project residents, because of its status and distance to the project sites. State of California Cortese List resources were also searched. These include: *List of Hazardous Waste and Substances sites from Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) EnviroStor database; *List of Leaking Underground Storage Tank Sites from the State Water Board's GeoTracker database (included in the GeoTracker search described above); *List of solid waste disposal sites identified by Water Board with waste constituents above hazardous waste levels outside the waste management unit; *List of "active" CDO and CAO from Water Board; *List of hazardous waste facilities subject to corrective action pursuant to Section 25187.5 of the Health and Safety Code, identified by DTSC. None of the project sites, nor any surrounding or nearby properties, were found on any of the Cortese lists. In sum, a search of federal and State databases revealed no toxic contamination within or adjacent to the project sites, and none of the sites within a 1-mile search radius appears to pose a threat to the health or safety of residents of the three residences. Site inspections for all three sites were conducted by MHA staff. Dates: 131 Bryce Canyon Road: 8/13/2020 (Carmen Soruco); 120 and 143 Bryce Canyon Road: 3/23/22 (Mike Cutchin) . No potential RECs were identified.

Based on the response, the review is in compliance with this section.

Yes

Check here if an ASTM Phase I Environmental Site Assessment (ESA) report was utilized. [Note: HUD regulations does not require an ASTM Phase I ESA report for single family homes]

Noise Abatement and Control

General requirements	Legislation	Regulation
HUD’s noise regulations protect residential properties from excessive noise exposure. HUD encourages mitigation as appropriate.	Noise Control Act of 1972 General Services Administration Federal Management Circular 75-2: “Compatible Land Uses at Federal Airfields”	Title 24 CFR 51 Subpart B

1. What activities does your project involve? Check all that apply:

New construction for residential use

Rehabilitation of an existing residential property

NOTE: For modernization projects in all noise zones, HUD encourages mitigation to reduce levels to acceptable compliance standards. See 24 CFR 51 Subpart B for further details. The definition of “modernization” is determined by program office guidance.

A research demonstration project which does not result in new construction or reconstruction

An interstate land sales registration

Any timely emergency assistance under disaster assistance provision or appropriations which are provided to save lives, protect property, protect public health and safety, remove debris and wreckage, or assistance that has the effect of restoring facilities substantially as they existed prior to the disaster

None of the above

2. Do you have standardized noise attenuation measures that apply to all modernization and/or minor rehabilitation projects, such as the use of double glazed windows or extra insulation?

Yes

Indicate the type of measures that will apply (check all that apply):

- ✓ Improved building envelope components (better windows and doors, strengthened sheathing, insulation, sealed gaps, etc.)
- Redesigned building envelope (more durable or substantial materials, increased air gap, resilient channels, staggered wall studs, etc.)
- Other

Explain:

California Title 24, the Green Building Code, includes energy conservation requirements that also serve to attenuate noise.

Based on the response, the review is in compliance with this section.
