

Mirror, Mirror

When I see myself in the mirror, I see someone who has made some dumb mistakes in the past. I see a young man who has a lot to improve on such as getting control of my anger. No matter how well I'm doing in life, I see a young man who can improve both physically and mentally. I've always strived to be the best version of myself.

From The Beat: We like how you incorporated your mental and physical self in your response to our prompt. Often times, when people think about their mirror image, they focus solely on the physical self. We respect your bravery and wisdom to look deeper within and to be actively striving to reach your best self.
